

Chairs Report

As in previous years Darlington Association on Disability has actively encouraged and supported disabled people to get involved in consultation.

However consultation and involvement that is tokenistic with no real willingness to take on board disabled people views or advice is a waste of time.

Meaningful consultation and, more importantly, involvement of disabled people in issues that could impact on their lives, is vital if positive changes are to come about.

Darlington Association on Disability recognises that consultation often forms one part of a larger decision making process, and that outcomes may not always reflect the balance of views that we have provided or the outcomes that we have advised. However organisations can not expect Darlington Association on Disability to endorse decisions made, following a process of consultation or advice-giving, where the final outcome does not reflect the views of disabled people or carers.

Darlington Association on Disability is a valuable asset to Darlington, envied by other towns that do not have a well established and respected Centre for Independent Living led by disabled people.

I give the credit for Darlington Association on Disability's accomplishments to all the dedicated staff and volunteers who under the excellent managerial skills of Lauren Robinson and her deputy Jacki Hiles have once again done an outstanding job and I thank them all.

Also I would like to acknowledge the hands on role, as volunteers, played by my fellow trustees and thank them for their commitment and support.

Securing core funding is a constant struggle and I am immensely grateful to all our financial supporters without them we would not be able to continue to take a leading role in changing negative attitudes that prevent disabled people participating full as equal citizens. To them all I offer my warmest thanks.
